Mission
BJA provides leadership and services in grant administration and criminal justice policy development to support local, state, and tribal law enforcement in achieving safer communities.

www.bja.ojp.gov
Program Overview

• The Crisis Response Training Program provides support to law enforcement and corrections on how to effectively partner with mental health and community service agencies to promote public safety and ensure appropriate responses to individuals who have behavioral health conditions, intellectual disabilities, developmental disabilities, or physical disabilities.

• Specifically, this program seeks applications to:
  1) Plan, develop, and deploy a best practice training program for officers that includes their community.
  2) Develop a strategy for deploying officers trained in crisis response during times of crisis.
  3) Evaluate, improve, and sustain community engagement and a best practice program.
Eligibility

- City or township governments
- County governments
- Native American tribal governments (federally recognized)
- Native American tribal organizations (other than federally recognized tribal governments)
- State governments
- Correctional entities
Program Goal

• To support crisis response training for state, local, and tribal law enforcement and correctional entities that will ensure organizational planning, strategically deploy those who have been trained, and ensure sustained best practices.
Program Objectives

- BJA is seeking applicants that will:
  - Perform a problem analysis, in collaboration with local stakeholders and agency leadership, using relevant data
  - Develop a comprehensive training plan
  - Create, design, and implement a training program

Program Deliverables

Applicants must submit applications that propose both planning and implementation phases.

• The planning phase is up to 12 months long and at its conclusion, grantees will submit their plans to BJA’s training and technical assistance (TTA) provider.

• Grantees can expect to begin implementation once the planning phase is complete and the implementation plan has been reviewed and accepted by BJA’s TTA provider.
  • During the implementation phase, grantees will deliver crisis response training.
  • They will also evaluate, track, and sustain the training program.

Priority Areas

• The Department of Justice is committed to advancing work that promotes civil rights, increases access to justice, supports crime victims, protects the public from crime and evolving threats, and builds trust between law enforcement and the community.

• In addition, OJP will give priority consideration to applicants that demonstrate that individuals who are intended to benefit from the requested grant reside in high-poverty areas or persistent-poverty counties.

Note that priority consideration is one of many factors that OJP considers in making funding decisions and is not a guarantee of an award.
Federal Award Information

• BJA expects to make up to 46 awards of up to $150,000 each, with an estimated total amount awarded of up to $6,900,000.

• All awards are for a 36-month period of performance.

• The funding during the initial 12-month period must support planning activities, followed by 24 months of implementation activities.
Budget Information

• This solicitation does not require a match.

• While applicants will be required to submit a budget for the entire 36-month project at the time of application submission, they may have the opportunity to revise their budgets based on any outcomes from the planning phase.

• Program budget approval and coordination with BJA’s TTA provider are required to complete the planning phase before implementation can take place.
The budget should be complete, cost-effective, and allowable. All costs should be reasonable, allocable, and necessary for project activities.

The budget should clearly indicate the costs for the planning phase, up to the first 12 months of the project.

The following costs are not allowed: prizes, rewards, entertainment, trinkets, or any other monetary incentives; client stipends; gift cards; vehicle purchases; and food/beverages.

The budget should include costs associated with travel for two persons to a BJA training and technical assistance related event.

For more information on allowable costs, visit OJP’s Federal Financial Guide: https://www.ojp.gov/funding/financialguidedoj/overview
