What is the Office of Justice Programs (OJP)?

- OJP provides grant funding, training, research and statistics to the criminal justice community.
- OJP is one of three grant-making components of the Department of Justice.
 - Office on Violence Against Women (OVW)
 - Office of Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS)

OJP Bureaus and Offices

- Bureau of Justice Assistance (BJA)
- Bureau of Justice Statistics (BJS)
- National Institute of Justice (NIJ)
- Office for Victims of Crime (OVC)
- Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (OJJDP)
- Office of Sex Offender Sentencing, Monitoring, Apprehending, Registering, and Tracking (SMART)

BJA Mission Statement

BJA provides leadership and services in grant administration and criminal justice policy development to support local, state, and tribal justice strategies to achieve safer communities.

BJA's Guiding Principle Statement

Reduce crime, recidivism, and unnecessary confinement, and promote a safe and fair criminal justice system.

Administration Priorities

Funding through BJA is aligned with the Administration's priorities to prosecute more drug and felonious gun cases, with a focus on violent crime, while also supporting the safety of law enforcement officers.

Types of BJA Grants

Discretionary

- Awarded directly by OJP to eligible recipients.
- Applicants apply directly to OJP/BJA.
- Most often on a competitive basis.
- Applications undergo a preliminary review process to ensure that they are complete and meet the eligibility requirements.

Formula

- Formula awards are administered and managed by State Administering Agencies or units of local government.
- The applicant agency can be a State Administering Agency or a unit of local government such as a city, county, parish, tribe, etc.
- Distribution of funds is most often governed by a formula, established by a statute or congressional appropriation act, that specifies which factors are used to determine eligibility, how the funds will be allocated among eligible recipients, and the method by which an applicant must demonstrate its eligibility for that funding.

Edward Byrne Memorial Justice Assistance Grant (JAG) – Formula

- JAG funds may be used across eight broad purpose areas:
 - Law enforcement
 - Prosecution and court
 - Crime prevention and education
 - Corrections and community corrections
